library liaison

Two new series of stories have been purchased for the library. Talk about diversity!
The first is "Percy Jackson and the Olympians." A series that is geared for boys who say they don't like to read! The author is Rick Riordan, a former English and history teacher at public and private middle schools in the San Francisco Bay area and Texas. Percy Jackson is a 12 year old dyslexic boy who discovers he is the modern day son of a Greek God. "The Lightning Thief" is the first book in the series and was made into a movie that came out February 12. This series has not only proven extremely popular with young readers but has also spurred a new interest in Greek mythology.
Also purchased was "The Rainbow Fairies", a series of "little girl" stories. Fairyland is home to 7 colorful sisters who organize the color in Fairyland and keep it dazzling and bright. But when evil Jack Frost sends them far away, the sisters are in big trouble and if they don't return soon, Fairyland is doomed to be gray forever. The author is Daisy Meadows.
